THE RICH DIVERSITY OF THE PÉRIGORD

Situated in Nouvelle Aquitaine, in south-west France, to the east of Bordeaux, at the gateway to Occitanie, the Dordogne offers visitors a host of sensations and emotions. A favourite destination with food-lovers, this is a fascinating area with plenty to see and do at any time of year.

Beautiful buildings such as castles, manor houses and Romanesque churches are dotted around the countryside, providing a magnet for anyone interested in culture and heritage. It's not by chance that Prehistoric Man chose to settle in the area 17,000 years ago. He left exceptional works of art to Humanity, such as the cave paintings in Lascaux and the 15 prehistoric sites concentrated in the Vézère valley, which are now listed UNESCO World Heritage sites.

Our 10 listed villages, our medieval bastides and our three "Towns of Art and History" make the Dordogne one of the richest départements in France in terms of listed historical monuments.

Today, this extraordinary heritage is showcased thanks to new tours and experiences available to the public. A visit to the new Centre International de l'Art Pariétal Montignac Lascaux is the best example of this, with its concentration of technology and modern design combining to take visitors back on a journey to the origins of human history.

The area also offers numerous festivals and events dedicated to music, mime, film and food throughout the year.

Nature-lovers and outdoor activity enthusiasts are spoilt for choice in the Dordogne - choose from activities as diverse as canoeing, hiking and cycle touring to golf, climbing and fishing, as well as wakeboarding and pot-holing.

Bon voyage!

AN EXTRAORDINARY HISTORY

With its 147 prehistoric sites dating back to the Palaeolithic period and 25 decorated caves, the Vézère valley or "valley of Prehistory" is of exceptional ethnographic, anthropological and aesthetic interest, with no fewer than 15 prehistoric sites in the valley on UNESCO's World Heritage List.

A glance back in history at one of the masterpieces of cave painting: Lascaux cave

- 1940: Discovery of Lascaux cave in Montignac by four teenagers
- 1963: Closure of the cave to the general public due to its deteriorating condition
- 1983: Opening of Lascaux II, a facsimile of part of the cave
- 2012: The Lascaux III touring exhibition is taken around the world
- 2016: Opening of the Centre International d'Art Pariétal, Montignac-Lascaux, also known as LASCAUX IV

“One of the wonders of prehistoric art {...} nicknamed the "prehistoric Sistine Chapel”

Lascaux, one of humanity's major archaeological discoveries

According to UNESCO, "its discovery was of great importance for the history of prehistoric art. The hunting scenes show some 100 animal figures, which are remarkable for their detail, rich colours and lifelike quality." One of the wonders of prehistoric art, the cave was decorated by the Magdalenian people during the first half of the 15th millennium. Comprising the Hall of Bulls, the Axial Gallery, the Passageway, the Nave, the Chamber of the Felines, the Apse and the Shaft, it is often nicknamed the "prehistoric Sistine Chapel". UNESCO considers that "there is no other prehistoric site in any other part of the world which equals the site in the quantity, quality and variety of the finds."

LASCAUX CONQUERS THE WORLD

Ever since its discovery, Lascaux has attracted widespread interest around the world. In order to handle the growing number of tourists to the site, the Conseil Départemental de la Dordogne has decided to create a faithful reproduction of part of the cave (not visible at Lascaux 2). Facsimile techniques now make it possible to share this unique heritage with large numbers of visitors.

Lascaux III, the “international exhibition”

Covering a total area of 800m², this kit-form module, which can be assembled and dis-assembled, incorporates new image-based technology into a partial facsimile of the cave and its different themed areas, enabling visitors to stand in awe in front of the extraordinary paintings that they would see if they visited Lascaux in the Dordogne. The key here is to develop an understanding of why it is vital that this emblematic place in the history of Humanity should be preserved.

The idea is to offer visitors who may not have the chance to visit the Périgord a chance to see life-size replicas and faithful reproductions of the original cave paintings through the use of precise reproduction techniques and technologies. These wall paintings are part of an interactive exhibition which will visit some of the most important museums in the world.

In 2017, the exhibition will be heading to Japan:

- The National Museum of Nature and Science in Ueno Park, Tokyo, from 1 November to 19 February 2017
- The Tohoku History Museum, in Tohoku, from 28 March 2017 to 28 May 2017
- The Kyushu National Museum in Fukuoka, from 4 July to 3 September 2017

Who is this exhibition for?

This exhibition appeals to all visitors, with its combination of art and science and its focus on beauty, aesthetics and our historical origins.

BEHIND THE SCENES AT LASCAUX

Since early 2013, a team of artisans from the Périgord Facsimile Workshop have been working to reproduce 900m² of wall paintings in the extraordinary studio of the Centre International d'Art Pariétal in Montignac.

The unique expertise of the Périgord Facsimile Workshop

As a result of the restoration of Lascaux 2 and the creation of “travelling” facsimiles for the Lascaux international exhibition, the Centre International de l'Art Pariétal and frescoes from the Ekain cave in Spain, the Périgord Facsimile Workshop (AFSP) boasts an expertise which is unrivalled across the globe.

Based in Montignac in a workshop spanning almost 4,000m², AFSP specialises in the mineral reproduction of prehistoric wall paintings using a patented technique known as “voile de pierre” (literally “stone veil”). Its team consists largely of painters who trained in Fine Arts, but also includes resin sculptors, moulders, ornamental ironworkers and welders.

The patented technique

The “voile de pierre” technique makes it possible to project natural materials on to walls to give them an extremely realistic texture and appearance. Using projections and photographs, the workshop's painters reproduce the original cave as faithfully as possible. A scientific committee supervises the progression of the work in order to ensure that the copy closely resembles the original.

THE CENTRE INTERNATIONAL D'ART PARIETAL MONTIGNAC-LASCAUX

Where prehistory meets cutting-edge science, and the latest technology combines with modern design, taking visitors back on a journey to the origins of human history... The full reproduction of Lascaux cave will be open to visitors from 15 December 2016.

A unique insight:

The Centre International d'Art Pariétal de Montignac will comprise over 8,500m² of visitor space, including a unique facsimile of Lascaux Cave and four rooms retracing the history of the discovery of Lascaux, its place in world cave paintings and its relationship with contemporary art. The building, designed by the international architectural firm Snøhetta, will offer a contemporary setting in which to showcase and rediscover Lascaux down to the tiniest detail, using the most modern digital technology tools. The layout of the museum has been created by the UK design agency Casson Mann.

www.lascaux.fr

The new visitor experience at Lascaux comprises six different stages:

- 1- From the belvedere, a huge slideshow and landscaped walkway depicting different scenes takes visitors on a gradual journey back in time as they explore the underground world.
- 2- Visitors admire a unique and complete facsimile of the Lascaux cave.
- 3- In the wall art workshop the cave will disassemble in front of your very eyes, enabling you to understand Lascaux and its secrets.
- 4- The wall art theatre provides an insight into the work of prehistorians from the 19th century to the present day.
- 5- Relief is an integral part of the cave art here. Explore Lascaux in the finest possible detail thanks to the 3D cinema, comparing its paintings with other masterpieces of wall art from around the world.
- 6- Lastly, a digital gallery invites visitors to explore the links between wall art and modern and contemporary art, followed by a talk by an artist displaying his/her work in the temporary exhibition space.

WHAT'S NEW ALONG THE "ROUTE DES CHÂTEAUX DU PÉRIGORD"

In the region of a thousand and one castles.
In 2017, to the delight of young and old alike, these castles come back to life...

• A UNIQUE GOURMET EXPERIENCE at the Château de Montaigne, in the Pays de Bergerac

Enjoy a unique gastronomic dinner prepared by a professional chef accompanied by 19th century-style service when you become the lord or lady of the manor for the evening!

• A NEW CHATEAU - the Château l'Évêque, to the north of Périgueux

The former summer palace of the bishops of Périgueux until the Revolution, the castle was built between the 14th and 16th centuries. It features two polygonal towers decorated with fine sculptures, home to spiral staircases, and a corbelled turret housing an oratory. This elegant building is surrounded by an English-style park with a river and lake, which add to its romantic atmosphere. Its new owner decided to reawaken this sleeping beauty, previously closed to the public, by opening it to visitors.

WHAT'S NEW ALONG THE "ROUTE DES CHÂTEAUX DU PÉRIGORD"

- The Château de COMMARQUE, a building that is constantly changing!

This castle, in the Beune valley near Sarlat, relates the history of Mankind from prehistory to the present day. Here, human presence is visible from prehistoric times (as witnessed by its cave with a superb engraving of a horse) up until the 16th century. The remains of troglodyte dwellings from the Middle Ages can also be visited. In 2017, it is also possible to visit the new restored rooms at the base of the keep. Previously in ruins, they have now been restored, enabling visitors to admire the parquet flooring, the ceiling, and sumptuous 15th century wood furniture.

10 “Most Beautiful Villages in France”

The Dordogne is home to the largest number of listed villages in France. Situated 20km from Sarlat, Saint-Amand-de-Coly nestles between two wooded valleys and is famous for its 12th century abbey. In the Périgord Vert, Saint-Jean-de-Côle's history is linked with that of the Château de la Marthonie which dominates its main square, while the typical village of Saint-Léon-sur-Vézère between Montignac and Les Eyzies boasts no fewer than three castles. Other villages include Limeuil (overlooking the confluence of the Dordogne and Vézère), Monpazier, La-Roque-Gageac, Belvès, Domme, Castelnaud-la-Chapelle and Beynac-et-Cazenac.

Unique events and visits to villages full of character

- The village of La Roque Gageac revealed in all its glory: “Les Énigmes d’Éliette” - a new period-inspired evening tour through the streets of the village.

Having solved the riddles given to her by her grandmother, whom she has just lost, Éliette Peyrotou takes us on a tour through La Roque Gageac, highlighting some of its key events that reveal its origins and history through entertaining anecdotes that introduce links between local history and that of the country.

<http://www.sarlat-tourisme.com/les-enigmes-deliette-la-roque-gageac-revelee>

- A hidden treasure along the banks of the Charente: the village of Saint Aulaye Puymangou

This unusual bastide, founded in 1288, is perched on a hill overlooking the River Dronne. Thanks to its architectural heritage (listed 11th century Romanesque church, 15th century ramparts) and landscapes (the “Parc du lavoir”, the Double forest and its lakes), the village was awarded the “Petite Cité de Caractère” label in April 2015. It is the first village in the Dordogne and Aquitaine to receive this award.

PERIGUEUX, A FOOD CAPITAL WITH 2,000 YEARS OF HISTORY

Home to 39 listed buildings and historic monuments, the city of Périgueux boasts one of the largest conservation areas in France. Périgueux, an officially recognised "Town of Art and History", is home to a unique architectural ensemble. From the ancient Gallo-Roman city "Vesunna" to the medieval-Renaissance town and fine 18th and 19th century buildings, Périgueux offers no less than 2,000 years of history. Its Saint Front cathedral forms part of UNESCO's Way of St James World Heritage.

A unique tour showcasing local savoir-faire

Since 1963, La Nouvelle SOCRA, a company operating near Périgueux, has specialised in the restoration of architectural works of art as well as archaeological remains. Examples of its projects in France include the Hall of Mirrors at Versailles, the Garnier opera house and the quadrigas of the Grand Palais in Paris, the archangel of Mont Saint Michel etc... www.socra.fr

During the summer, its workshops are open to the public via tours organised by the tourist office (prior booking required).

Somewhere to grab a snack at any time of day

The Véloc Café, which opened its doors in the autumn of 2016 opposite St Front cathedral in a listed "Monuments Historiques" building, is not your normal café! Here, Christophe Constantin rents out classic and electric bikes, as well offering tastings of local products (charcuterie, cheeses, beer and spirits) sourced from the best producers in the area. You can also browse books on Périgueux and its surrounding area, as well as help yourself to a variety of card and board games, including Scrabble and Monopoly. All in all, a very pleasant place to while away an hour or two!

SARLAT, A MEDIEVAL PEARL

Medieval Sarlat, an officially recognised “town of art and history”, has managed to preserve intact its extensive architectural heritage, as a result of which the majority of its monuments are listed “Monuments Historiques”. When night falls, the town takes on an even more romantic atmosphere thanks to the combined lighting provided by gas lamps, candelabra and electric ground lighting.

A bird's eye view

Nestling in the heart of the bell tower of Sainte-Marie church, a panoramic lift designed by the architect Jean Nouvel offers visitors a unique 360° view of Sarlat. The glass walls of the lift enable visitors to admire its paved streets and lauze-tiled rooftops from on high. A unique experience.

A time-honoured architectural heritage: "lauze" roofs

The nature of the material used for the roofs of the old buildings in the medieval heart of Sarlat comes as something of a surprise. The “lauze” stone used, cut and placed with precision without the need for mortar, is incredibly heavy, weighing between 500-800kg per square metre. It is a time-honoured skill that the family of Thierry Chapouli, a master “lauzier” in Saint Geniès, has kept alive for three generations.

BERGERAC, THE TOWN OF CYRANO

Situated in the middle of renowned vineyards such as Monbazillac and Pécharmant, Bergerac is an officially recognized "town of art and history". Bergerac's history is closely linked to that of the River Dordogne. In its narrow pedestrianised streets, visitors will discover the decor and atmosphere of the 14th, 15th and 16th centuries, as well as the Romanesque St Jacques church which once welcomed pilgrims following the Way of St James to Santiago de Compostela.

A tour by Chinese lantern

SPORTS EVENTS YOU WON'T WANT TO MISS IN 2017

The Tour de France in the Dordogne

The Tour de France caravan will stay in the region for 3 days from 9-12 July!

On 11 July, the 10th stage of the tour will leave Périgueux along the D6089 towards Thenon.

The route will follow the Vézère valley to Montignac-Lascaux, Peyzac-le-Moustier (at the foot of La Roque-Saint-Christophe) and Les Eyzies de Tayac. The peloton will then turn left, heading to Sarlat, then Vitrac, before following the Dordogne valley to reach the finish line in Bergerac.

On 12 July, Eymet will have the honour of hosting the stage's departure for the very first time, on a route that will take riders to the town of Pau, in the foothills of the Pyrenees.

Although the tour's cyclists won't have time to enjoy the relaxed pleasure of this "stage full of local flavour", spectators will be able to admire the castles that stand proudly along the Dordogne.

THE NEW ISLE VALLEY CYCLING ROUTE

The “vélo-route” extends towards Bordeaux

From Périgueux (Trélissac) to the border with the Gironde (Le Pizou), the Véloroute Voie Verte now offers over 100km of trails for individual cyclists, roller-bladers and families to enjoy.

It is dotted with rest and play areas as well as impressive footbridges spanning the River Isle.

Along the route, visitors can admire superb landscapes, unspoilt nature, historic sites (castles, charterhouses, churches, abbeys, a cathedral etc), in addition to sampling the best of Périgord’s gastronomy.

In the near future, the route will become part of the major trans-European trail, the Vélo-route Voie Verte “V90”, passing through the centre of France and extending via the Dordogne to the Aquitaine’s Atlantic beaches.

Stopping-points and visits along the route:

- The sturgeon fish farm, at the HUSO estate in Neuvic-sur-l’Isle, which produces Neuvic caviar.

A paradise for family canoeing, whether you're 5 or 77!

The Dordogne is France's leading département for recreational canoeing, whatever your age.

With the only 4-seater family canoes on the market (the famous C4 canoes) available on the Dordogne, Vézère and Dronne rivers, visitors can explore the delightful valleys of the Périgord (the “Vallées de la Préhistoire” and the “Vallée des Châteaux”) from spring all the way through to the autumn, making the Dordogne a perfect destination for recreational canoeing! Over 5,400 boats available for hire.

SPECIAL GARDEN EVENTS

You will find a whole host of different landscapes and atmospheres in the 32 parks and gardens that are open to visitors, including "classic" gardens such as the Jardins du Manoir d'Eyrignac in Salignac Eyvigues, the castle gardens at the Château d'Hautefort, the Italian-style gardens of Marqueyssac in Vézac, and more contemporary-style gardens such as the Jardins de l'Imaginaire in Terrasson. 14 of these gardens have been awarded the "Jardin Remarquable" label.

The Jardins de Marqueyssac celebrate their 20th anniversary

With their 150,000 hundred-year-old boxwoods all pruned by hand and 6km of delightful paths and walkways to be explored whatever the season, the Marqueyssac gardens offer a 360° perspective of the Dordogne valley and the most emblematic of its castles standing proudly above its banks. This extraordinary view has resulted in the Belvedere receiving the rare and coveted three stars in the Michelin Guide year after year.

A date for your diary: 21 March 2017

This event is supported by broadcaster and head gardener at Versailles, Alain Baraton. The day will include an open doors event with free entry for all visitors, plus a musical performance and the illumination of the Dordogne valley in the evening.

The French-style garden and parkland at the Château des Milandes in the Dordogne valley

"The imprint of Jules Vacherot". Angélique de Saint-Exupéry, the current owner, has completely redesigned the castle's parkland, which covers almost five hectares, re-awakening its beautiful perspectives after decades of inactivity. As part of the work carried out, the garden, which is a listed Monument Historique, is further embellished by the presence of water. Not to be missed: an extraordinary marked path that follows the topography of the landscape and brings life to the large flower beds planted with over 600 rose bushes.

FAMILY FUN

When your children ask the question “How does it work?” it’s not always easy to provide the answer! So, what could be better than signing up for a workshop for all the family, combining your afternoon with a few hours of learning something new?

Cookery workshops for budding chefs in Azerat, near Terrasson

Teaching children to cook means introducing them to the basics of eating well. These workshops aim to teach children about the benefits of a balanced diet through the use of simple, enjoyable recipes and by combining play, tasting and learning with health and nutrition. Classes are available for budding gourmets aged from 5 to 11, who will be able to take their mouth-watering culinary creations home to their families. Workshops take place throughout the year from 2.30-4.30pm on Wednesdays or 10am-noon on Saturdays (prior reservation required).

FOOD AMBASSADORS

Many chefs use local products which are an important aspect of the region's charm. Some perpetuate the traditions of cuisine "à l'ancienne", while others opt for a more modern approach.

Today, other food ambassadors highlight the incredible variety and quality of our local products.

"Les Saveurs du Palais" by Danièle Mazet-Delpeuch

Originally from the Périgord, this self-taught chef and cook at the Elysée Palace for French President François Mitterrand from 1988 to 1990 has an incredible destiny. Her atypical life provided the inspiration for the 2012 film Haute Cuisine or "Les Saveurs du Palais", directed by Christian Vincent and starring Catherine Frot. Author of the book "Carnets de cuisine du Périgord à l'Elysée", and a new work entitled "Ma cuisine de l'Elysée à l'Antartique" (My Cooking from the Elysée Palace to Antarctica), published by Bayard, this female chef who takes inspiration from the culinary pleasure of others is both generous of spirit and lively in character. A skilled exponent of rustic-style cuisine, Danièle Mazet-Delpeuch still lives in the Dordogne, from where she continues to pass on the culinary savoir-faire of past generations.

Martin Walker, the portrait of a food-loving author

Author of several novels and the police detective series "Bruno", the Scottish journalist Martin Walker divides his time between Washington and the Dordogne, where he owns a house in the country. The main hero in his food-inspired detective novels set in the Dordogne is Commissaire Bruno, a municipal policeman with somewhat unconventional methods. In real life, Bruno is no other than Pierre Simonet, the municipal chief of police in the village of Le Bugue, in the Vézère valley. The success of his novels has attracted new visitors to the Dordogne hoping to meet and follow in the steps of their police hero!

NEW RESTAURANTS

Every year, the Dordogne sees new restaurants open their doors, adding to its ever-increasing range of gastronomic options.

NEW: Restaurant recommendations Le Bistrot de Malfourat in Monbazillac

Enjoy family cooking, a friendly atmosphere and stunning views of the Monbazillac vineyards at this restaurant. In the newly decorated dining room, admire a rare historic musical instrument – the recently restored “limonaire” organ. “Limonaire” is the name of a family who made fairground organs and automatic instruments from 1840 onwards. Their name was renowned for the quality of their instruments, the most popular of which became known as the “limonaire” organ (a fairground organ) which over the years became used to describe all large mechanical organs.

MOUTHWATERING LOCAL PRODUCE

Our region is renowned for its gastronomy and emblematic products such as black Périgord truffles, duck and goose foie gras, Périgord strawberries and walnuts, Périgord sweet chestnuts, goat's cheese, and the wines of Bergerac.

www.noixdupericord.com

Périgord walnuts

Périgord's most famous nut celebrated the 10th anniversary of its Appellation d'Origine Contrôlée status in 2012. Four varieties fly the flag for the department (the Corne, Marbot, Grandjean and Franquette) and in total 7,000 tonnes are harvested in the designated Périgord walnut production area. A tourist route has also been created, enabling visitors to discover the secrets of this honey-coloured nut and the ways in which it is used. The tour includes a visit to the eco-museum in Castelnau-la-Chapelle, as well as several walnut oil mills. A map is available on the Périgord walnut website.

The Périgord strawberry – a protected fruit

From April to October, the region's varied strawberries bring delight to food-lovers. In the Dordogne, the second biggest producer of this delicious fruit in France, the main varieties grown are the Gariguette, Elsanta, Cigaline, Seascape, Mara des Bois, Cirafine and Darselect. Périgord's strawberries are the only ones in Europe to benefit from protected geographic status, in an area home to around 200 different producers.

“Red Label” status for sweet chestnuts from south-west France

Sweet chestnuts from the Périgord were awarded “Red Label” status for their high-quality flavour and appearance on 1 October 2015. This label provides consumers with information on the quality of produce from south-west France. Only the best chestnuts (larger than 31mm) from the Bouche de Bétizac, Marigoule and Bournette varieties can be awarded “Red Label” status.

Truffles and foie gras: the stars of our local gastronomy

Much more than a mere mushroom, the Périgord black truffle can be seen in the markets of the Dordogne from December to February each year, in particular those in Sorges, Saint-Alvère and Périgueux. The best way to learn about the “tuber melanosporum” is by visiting the Maison de la Truffe, in Sorges, which houses interactive displays on this famous mushroom.

Périgord foie gras is often served at celebrations and its name can make many a mouth water! Produced from both ducks and geese it is highly prized by aficionados. In the Dordogne, over 60 producers, farmers, artisans and canners control the quality and provenance of their product via the “Canard à foie gras du Périgord” IGP quality control label. The “Discover the Foie Gras of the Périgord” map also enables visitors to meet producers of this local speciality. The Maison du Foie Gras, in Thiviers, boasts 450m² of displays highlighting the history of foie gras as well as that of ducks and geese.

CAVIAR: Gourmet visits to the Domaine du Caviar in Neuvic

Situated in Neuvic on the banks of the River Isle, this estate follows the rhythm of the natural seasons and life of the sturgeon and produces without fail an excellent quality caviar inspired by nature. Here, the estate manager takes visitors to the sturgeon pools and gives information on the life and history of this fish, which spends at least seven years of its life in these waters before providing any eggs. Various options are available, including a visit to the estate. Discovery, Initiation and Masterclass visits, or a cookery class in the château itself – the choice is yours!

- 10am - Start at the Maison des Vins de Bergerac, where you can pick up your indispensable map of the Wine Route, as well as a whole host of advice and information.
- 11am - Vignoble des Verdots: Artisan wine-producer David introduces you to his spectacular wine storehouse which has been carved right out of the rock. You'll also enjoy a delicious picnic of local produce.
- 3pm - Château du Haut-Pezaud: Have you got children? After a short siesta head to Monbazillac where Christine will meet you and take you on a family treasure hunt.
- 4pm - Château Ladesvignes: For an afternoon snack, make your way to Pompont for a tasting of local wines and cheeses. Before you leave, enjoy a few quiet moments of reflection under the old cedar tree to admire the extensive views of the Dordogne valley.
- 6pm - Château de Tiregand: Take the A Train for one of the legendary Jazz en Chai concerts in Pécharmant and treat yourself to some of the gourmet delights at the food market.
- 10pm - Château Feely: Enjoy a well-deserved restful night at Caroline's château in Saussignac. In the morning, enjoy an idyllic breakfast on the terrace of her Eco Wine Lodge which won a gold award in the Best of Wine Tourism awards in 2016.

Mag 247 - Mag 247 introduces its readers to Bergerac wines and the colourful characters who produce them by exploring the gastronomic, cultural, artisanal and sporting delights of the region. Mag 247 is published four times a year and is available free of charge by sending an email via the website. A web version of the magazine was launched in December 2016: www.247lemag.fr

THE “ARTS AND CRAFTS ROUTE”

Individual route notes provide information on artisans who have signed up to a quality charter which guarantees visitors a warm and friendly welcome and an introduction to their craft. More than 80 studios are part of this scheme which aims to offer visitors an authentic insight into the crafts of the region.

An organisation which encourages arts and crafts

Since 1999, the Pôle Expérimental des Métiers d'Arts, housed in the castle in Nontron town centre, has been raising awareness of different traditional skills with visitors and professional artists alike. It also coordinates the Rue des Métiers d'Art, an arts and crafts exhibition which is held annually in Nontron in November.

“Prêt-à-Voyager” - All ready to travel with Laurent Nay’s hand-made luggage

It was in 2007, in Castel in the heart of the Dordogne valley, that Laurent Nay began making hand-made luggage for the vintage car market. A trusted craftsman and designer, now famous with collectors across the globe, he pays particular attention to the leather which covers his trunks and suitcases, as well as to the metal accessories (made from brass, chromium-plated, nickel-plated or brass-plated steel) which finish off his luggage so perfectly. Whether they are original designs (Prêt-à-Voyager), personalised items or exact copies of old suitcases (Mesure), Laurent Nay’s hand-made luggage brings an exceptional sophistication to the world of vintage car enthusiasts and those who adore these beautiful machines.

THE TRADITIONAL ART OF ENTERTAINING

A knife-making tradition

In the north of the Dordogne, there is a strong tradition of making knives which is kept alive by many craftsmen working in the sector. Their traditional know-how dates back to 1653 when a forge and workshop were opened by the first knife-maker in the region. The Nontron knife is considered to be the ancestor of all French knives.

Coutellerie Nontronnaise

An official "Entreprise du Patrimoine Vivant" (Living Heritage Business), Coutellerie Nontronnaise in Nontron is the only company in France to produce traditional Nontron knives, available in classic and contemporary models alike (using designers such as Odile Decq, Olivier Gagnere and Stefania di Petrillo). The Nontron knife can be recognised by its steel blade, its brass safety catch and its honey-coloured, pyrographed boxwood handle. The Coutellerie Nontronnaise factory is open daily and can be visited free of charge. Discover the various stages of making a traditional Nontron knife, including the forging of the blade, the polishing, turning and fabrication of the handle, and the assembly of the various components.

Coutellerie du Périgord

For the past 15 years François Devige, a blacksmith's grandson, has achieved his childhood dream of working with two elements which have always fascinated him, namely steel and wood. A cabinet-maker by training, this enthusiast of old trades uses his expertise and inventiveness to make knives with innovative mechanisms which are stamped with the Périgord name. The full collection of these "Le Périgord" knives is displayed in three specialist shops in Brantôme en Périgord, Nontron and Sarlat.

FROM FASHION DESIGNERS TO ARTISANS, OUR LOCAL COMPANIES HAVE REAL TALENT!

Internationally renowned for her elegant creations of the 1930s, Jenny Sacerdote, a fashion designer originally from the Périgord (1868 - 1962), revolutionised fashion with her famous little grey suit. Today, a new wave of fashion designers and luxury companies have chosen to base themselves in the Dordogne.

AYRENS - a producer of high-quality umbrellas

A pioneer in haute couture in the early 1960s, AYRENS now focuses all its energy on the design and manufacture of fashionable umbrellas with a solid feel and elegant finish. A recognised "Entreprise du Patrimoine Vivant" (Living Heritage company) since 2009, the company has been in the Périgord for more than 150 years and is based in Saint-Pardoux-La-Rivière in the heart of the Parc Naturel Régional Périgord-Limousin, 20km north of Brantôme.

NEW PLACES TO DISCOVER

These unique places showcase traditional expertise and exhibit the work of local artists and artisans.

“LE JARDIN By Jan & Michèle” in Monpazier

Designer Michèle Jarry des Loges has made jewellery and luxury accessories for famous couturiers such as Christian Lacroix, Louis Féraud and Nina Ricci for many years. Her collections have been exhibited on the catwalk, worn by models such as Karen Mulder, Linda Evangelista and Carla Bruni. After years spent in Paris, Michèle has returned to her native region of the Dordogne, where she creates highly personal pieces, all of which are either one-off creations or part of a limited collection. She also makes personalised bespoke creations for her clients. In addition to making jewellery, she also designs mirrors and fresco-style decor for homes. Jan and Michèle welcome visitors to their beautiful new premises right in the centre of the bastide of Monpazier. “Pastels Girault” gallery and boutique in Montignac Lascaux

Founded in 1780, Pastels Girault specialises in making dry pastel sticks for painting, using techniques which are unusual, complex and handed down over the generations (which include weighing, highly technical grinding and extrusion). The company’s production workshops have been based near Lascaux in the Dordogne since 1998. This business is currently run by the eighth generation of the same family, who were awarded the “Entreprise du Patrimoine Vivant” label in 2013. Museums in France and abroad use this range of pastels to restore their works of art. The new gallery-cum-boutique in Montignac is decorated with works of art painted with pastel; boxes of pastels are also on sale to the general public here. The company has created a box of pastels in Lascaux-inspired colours to mark the opening of the “Centre international de l’Art Pariétal” in the town.

TOWARDS LOCAL SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

At the end of 2015, the Vézère valley became a member of the "Grands Sites de France" network in an aim to protect and recognise the valley's extraordinary natural heritage, with its landscape of cliffs rising above the River Vézère. Fifteen of its prehistoric caves and deposits are also listed UNESCO World Heritage Sites.

The Vézère valley, a member of the GRANDS SITES DE FRANCE network

From Terrasson to Limeuil, the valley is home to an extraordinary archaeological heritage which is renowned around the world. Inhabited by man for millennia, it is home to numerous traces of prehistoric habitation (caves, troglodyte dwellings etc) as well as many buildings that add to the valley's attractiveness (castles, churches etc) and historical interest. The main aim of the valley's Grand Site status is "to give prehistory its own landscape". Its goal is to showcase the superb landscape of its underground prehistoric heritage by highlighting its cliffs, considered the valley's emblematic natural monuments. Other key objectives include restoring and maintaining the quality of the landscape, preserving and highlighting the valley's architectural and environmental heritage, improving facilities and visits for the public, and encouraging socio-economic development in the local area (agriculture and tourism), while at the same time respecting the needs and wishes of its inhabitants.

"Green Globe" certification for the village of Le Bournat

This theme park in Le Bugue-sur-Vézère takes visitors on an authentic journey back to the 19th century. In 2016 it was awarded one of the most coveted international certifications in travel and sustainable tourism. The aim of this label is to support and reward tourism professionals who have incorporated social and environmental management systems into their activities. Laurent Delbos, director of the village of Le Bournat has been a prime exponent of this through work to restore the natural environment on the edge of the theme park. As a result of this, the former marshland has been transformed into an area that can be explored by boat, enabling visitors to observe the local wildlife.

2017: INTERNATIONAL YEAR OF SUSTAINABLE TOURISM FOR DEVELOPMENT (AS DECREED BY UNESCO)

Since 2013, the year in which it signed up to the European Charter for Sustainable Tourism, the Parc Naturel Régional Périgord Limousin has been committed to an eco-responsible policy.

The "Valeurs Parc Naturel Régional Périgord- Limousin" label

To date, 23 tourism accommodation providers within the Parc Naturel Régional fly the flag for this quality label. These include 8 educational farms whose aim is to inform tourists on the specific aspects of local agriculture. Here, visitors are welcomed by a farmer who explains his/her job and encourages them to explore the farm via a series of games and fun workshops (discovery tours, foraging workshops etc).

Focus on the Cloître de Cadouin

Located in the village of Cadouin, in the heart of the Dordogne valley, this monument forms part of UNESCO's Way of St James World Heritage Site. Founded in 1115, Cadouin is a Cistercian abbey, the eleventh to become part of the order, and where monastic activity came to an end in 1790. The cloister, rebuilt at the end of the 15th century, is an architectural jewel and a masterpiece of Flamboyant Gothic art which bears witness to the abbey's rediscovered power. Facilities introduced at the site as part of its commitment to the "Tourisme & Handicap label" have led to improvements in visitor comfort.

These include:

- A magnetic loop at the ticket desk at the entrance. A written document for those with hearing difficulties
- A linear layout to help those with mental disabilities
- Ground floor exhibition layout for those with motor impairment

CHIC CAMPING HOLIDAYS IN THE GREAT OUTDOORS

Nowadays, finding downtime to relax and enjoy some well-earned pampering with your friends or family is becoming ever more important, whether it's on a holiday or a weekend break. So why not organise a reunion, a birthday, anniversary or wedding (or even a business meeting) in the heart of nature in one of the Dordogne's 249 campsites. Find lots of great ideas and organise your relaxing break on your smartphone or tablet via the Dordogne's new camping website.

“Villa Lascaux”, a design-inspired country property

Located in La Chapelle Aubareil, near Montignac, this contemporary bioclimatic property offers a choice of five spacious “chambre d’hôte” accommodation options, each south-facing and tastefully decorated. Heated via solar energy, this Bed & Breakfast property with an outdoor jacuzzi is timber-framed and boasts a Canadian well, a glass staircase and a green roof which provides natural insulation. Added bonuses at this new property include the trendy decor and large bay windows with superb views of the Beune valley.

“Le Bel Estiu”, a fine example of successful renovation

In Saint-Geniès, this new “maison d’hôtes” offers three double rooms in an old farm with its typical Périgord decor of ochre-coloured stone and a lauze stone roof. “Le Bel Estiu” features traditional floor tiles, restored mangers, oak flooring, and reclaimed wood. Within its stone walls the history of this 18C farm is clearly evident, enhanced over a number of years by additional creature comforts, a relaxed ambience and a charming and refined decor. Soft lighting, warm colours, luxurious beds with linen bedding, high-quality materials and areas in which to read and relax all combine to create a setting perfect for taking it easy and looking after yourself.

“Les Hauts de Saint Vincent”, a charming B&B in the Dordogne valley

Fabrice and Stéphanie are delighted to welcome you to this former manor house, the origins of which date back to the 17th century, and which boasts unbeatable views of the Dordogne valley and its castles. After 30 years spent living in Paris, it was in Saint Vincent de Cosse, in the heart of this valley teeming with castles, that they decided to change their lifestyle, creating this “chambre d’hôte” property with five rooms and a swimming pool. All the rooms have been awarded the Clévacances label thanks to the high quality of their facilities.

Added bonuses: “table d’hôte” dinners and cookery classes focusing on local products. A fun and relaxed atmosphere guaranteed!

The renaissance of a Classical-style property in Terrasson

Georges and his wife were passionate about renovating the “Château de Gaubert” and its outbuildings. Situated on the left bank of the River Vézère, the castle enjoys a beautiful view of the surrounding countryside. The property was built between the 15th and 17th centuries on the foundations of an earlier manor house. Today, the main building is home to 3 large double rooms upstairs, each with a completely different ambience. Added bonus: open all year; the excellent recommendations from the owners to help you explore the region. “Table d’hôte” dining is also available here.
